PANHANDLE TO PROTEST CUTS IN CWA WORK

Washington Man Here to Investigate Randall County

MEET HELD TODAY

Panhandle Gathering To Be Held in Amarillo at 2 p. m.

To save CWA work in the Panhandle from radical reduction will be the object of an all-Panhandle gathering of Relief Committees, members of Commissioners' Courts and members of City Commissions in Amarillo this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

A local meeting is being held this morning in Canyon at which a special investigator from Washington will go into the local needs to determine upon the course necessary in the drouth stricken territory.

CWA work periods ended Thursday, but most of the projects are being continued in more or less limited form as the result of a special appropriation made last week by Congress.

A general order was issued that quotas would be reduced 10% weekly until all CWA work was ended on May 1st.

A telegram received yesterday by H. S. Strain indicated that no more materials, truck and team hire would be permitted except under restrained circumstances.

Another order abolished the policy of giving food and grain to those upon the CWA rolls, reserving this only for those on the relief rolls.

So many orders have been received during the past week at relief headquarters that one is hardly made effective until another countremands it.

The library project was cancelled outright in an order received Thursday, but efforts are being made to have it restored.

The sanitary project conducted by Jack Fuqua was first cancelled, and then restored under certain conditions which are not yet clearly set up.

The Rural Housing Survey was granted a little more time in which to complete its work.

Other projects in the county have been more or less handicapped as changes were made.

An appeal will be made today by members of the local committee, and county and city officials to extend CWA work. If this work is abolished, or greatly reduced, it will result in great suffering on the part of those who are afflicted by the drouth condition.

Word from Austin indicates that no more relief money will be available after this week owing to the fact that there were no bidders on the state bonds offered for sale Tuesday.

After the meeting this morning of local officials, many citizens will join in the all-Panhandle protest in Amarillo for the purpose of seeking extension of CWA work.

The drouth stricken section has never received any of the $8,900,000 special fund set aside for it last fall by President Roosevelt. An effort will be made to induce the state relief commission to authorize the expenditure of this fund in continuing road projects and other worthy projects in the Panhandle.

Historical Society Will Meet Here On Friday, April 13

L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, and Dr. J. A. Hill, were in Panhandle Thursday attending a meeting of the directors of the Society. Mr. Sheffy reported upon various phases of work being underway at the museum.

The annual meeting will be held on Friday, April 13th.

Directors attending the meeting were W. H. Patrick of Clarendon, T. D. Hobart of Pampa, H. M. Russell of Amarillo, Dr. Hill and Mr. Sheffy. President H. E. Hoover of Canadian was unable to be present.

JEFF McELROY DIES

Jeff D. McElroy, 72, pioneer settler of the Plains, died Tuesday at his home in Happy. Mr. McElroy has been a resident of Happy for 22 years.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Church of Christ.

Slogan Proposed for Palo Duro State Park

"Around every bend in every road and every trail, Nature has given the Palo Duro State Park a new surprise for you."

The above quotation was written by Capt. Charles D. Apple who retired Tuesday as commanding officer of Company 1821.

The quotation so aptly expresses conditions in the Park that it will be used in the advertising sent out regarding the beauties of the Park.

Hard Wind Swept Over Panhandle Saturday, p. m.

One of the hardest winds in years swept over the Panhandle Saturday afternoon and night, being the first real dust storm in several months. Many citizens believed that it was among the worst dust storms that this section has ever had. Owing to the continued drouth of the past year, perhaps there was more dust in the air than has been seen in many months.

It is generally believed that the net damage by the storm will be slight. Probably ten percent of the wheat was lost. The wind coming from the north brought little electricity as is the result of storms coming from the southwest.

Dr. W. K. Moorehead Will Speak Saturday; Study At Museum

Dr. Warren K. Moorehead, one of America's foremost archaeologists, will spend the latter part of this week studying materials in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum.

On Saturday morning at 9:30, Dr. Moorehead will address the college students and any townspeople who wish to attend.

In a recent book Dr. Moorehead paid high tribute to Floyd Studer for his work in fossil beds and prehistoric human habitations in the Panhandle. Dr. Moorehead is a member of the faculty of Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts. He has spent much time for many years in scientific studies in the Southwest.

Committees Hog Producers Will Be Named Soon

Hog producers in Randall county are busy this week working over past production figures in order to complete contracts with the government for a reduction of hogs for the year 1934. About 175 contracts have been signed. It is estimated that about 250 will be signed in the county. The hog program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration follows rather closely the same general outline as the wheat allotment program.

Permanent committees will be elected next week in the four commissioners precincts of the county. All who have signed first copies of the contract will be allowed to vote in the committee elections.

The date of the first payment on these contracts will depend on the time required to get the contracts in shape to go to Washington.

If all farmers who expect to sign contracts will get their figures in shape right away it will be a great help to the committees and will avoid long delays. No contracts can be sent to Washington until all are finished.

It is estimated that some $40,000 to $50,000 will come into the county on the hog contracts.

H. L. Dunham Here Making Inspection of Palo Duro Park

H. L. Dunham of the department of Interior, spent Thursday and Friday here inspecting work at the Palo Duro State Park. He works out of Denver on the various projects in the Southwest. This is the second visit he has made to the Palo Duro.

D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Parks Board, is expected here next week to make another inspection.

The road into the Park has been cleared of rock following the big blast of last week when 6400 cubic feet of rock were moved.

CONVENTIONS TO BRING MANY PEOPLE TO CITY

Eight Groups to Have Gatherings In Canyon

MANY DELEGATES

Unusual Entertainment to Be Afforded by Groups

Canyon is to be a city of conventions, conferences, and meets during the next two months, the first big conference beginning on March 9 when the International Relations Clubs of the Southwestern Region will hold a two-day conference here.

Eight colleges, with a total of about 60 delegates, will be present at that time.

On March 23-24 will be held the Northwest Texas Educational Conference which is expected to bring at least 1500 representatives of men's and women's civic clubs, county superintendents, class room teachers, and superintendents.

The Tri-State Music festival will follow just after this with contestants from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Northwest Texas. This meeting is April 5, 6, and 7.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, which always brings from 500 to 1000 visitors to Canyon will meet on Friday, April 13, and plans are already under way for the program.

The southwestern district of Kappa Omicron Phi, a national honorary home economics fraternity will hold its bi-ennial convention here April 12, 13, and 14.

The Regional Texas Interscholastic League meet, successor of old District Number One, will be held on April 19 and 20, with 45 counties sending the pick of their hign school boys and girls to enter the contests.

A conservative estimate indicates that 4000 people will visit the city during the spring convention series.

FRIEMEL BROTHERS GET YEAR ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Ted and Harry Friemel were given a year each in the penitentiary on a liquor charge in the Hereford district court Friday. The case consumed most of the week in trial.

Officers seized a large amount of liquor on their place in Deaf Smith county a few months ago.

HAD OPERATION

Mrs. L. S. Baker underwent an operation Tuesday morning in an Amarillo hospital. She is reported as resting well.

Night School Is Cut in Half By Order Received

More than half of those attending night school were eliminated by an order received from Austin which rejected all men who were employed and all women whose husbands were employed. This left the enrollment only to those who are on the CWA rolls, on the relief roll, or who are without employment.

Those who were eliminated from attending the night school could not reconcile the justice of the order in view of the fact that the attendance remained sufficiently large to retain all of the teachers and all classes are being conducted as previously. The only result of the order was to reduce the size of classes by a large number who were anxious to take the work, and who were counted among the best students attending the night school.

The night school will continue until further orders are issued from CWA headquarters.

W. L. Pearson Is Manager of Texas Utilities Office

W. L. Pearson arrived Thursday from Lubbock to assume management of the Canyon group of the Texas Utilities properties. He succeeds B. C. Workman, who returned to Dallas.

Mr. Pearson has been with the Lubbock office for four years. He graduated in Electrical Engineering in Texas Tech in 1931.

Fred Obethier, manager of the Hereford group, was here to assist Mr. Pearson in starting his work.

Several changes in management of various groups of property were made last week by the Texas Utilities, and it is contemplated that the general offices will be located at Lubbock.

Henry S. Bishop Candidate Re-Election Dist. Judge

Judge Henry S. Bishop was here Saturday and stated that he was a candidate for re-election to the office of District Judge.

Judge Bishop will make a complete statement regarding his candidacy at a later time.

J. M. CRAIG'S MOTHER DIED AT DALLAS HOME

Mrs. W. C. Craig, 87, died Feb 6th at her home in Dallas. She is the mother of J. M. Craig of this city, who was called to the funeral.

Mrs. J. M. Craig has been at the beaside of her mother at Kingston for the past month, but returned home with Mr. Craig from the funeral of his mother.

COLLEGE GIVES WORK TO MANY CWA STUDENTS

New High Attendance Record Set For Quarter

76 AIDED BY U. S.

Assistants Named by Various Departments in W. T.

There was great rejoicing among 76 W. T. students who were successful in meeting the requirements for CWA aid which started Thursday. But practically 300 other students who had applied for work were disappointed in not being chosen for this special aid which is being extended by the government.

Attendance reached a new high peak in College attendance when the enrollment reached 922 this week. This does not include the 252 enrolled in the training school.

Fifteen new students were registered as the result of the CWA offer to assist college students. A number who had registered the first of the semester were qualified to secure this aid. 20 new students were allowed the benefits of this new project, while 56 students who were in college last quarter were given jobs as the result of this new governmental agency. Many other new students would have enrolled had there been any chance for them to secure work.

Practically every department in W. T. secured student assistants who will be paid an average of $15 per month for work out of the $5,000,000 fund which was set aside by the government to assist students who needed aid in finishing their college career.

The increased college attendance is very gratifying to college officials. The drouth over the Nortn Plains, and the depression generally over the state had every tendency to hold college attendance to a minimum with many colleges showing a greatly reduced attendance. But the increased attendance at W. T. has clearly shown the high regard in which this institution is held by the people of Northwest Texas.

GIVE CAMP PROGRAM

On Sunday evening, Miss Moss Richardson, accompanied by Miss Laura Virginia Bills, pianist, and Miss Lucile Scott, vocalist, held a service at the CCC camp. Mrs. Tempie Crlon, Robert Orton, and Leon Penick accompanied the party. The singing of the men at the camp delighted the visitors as much as the service did the men.

Lobby of P. O. May Be Closed During Night

The postoffice lobby will be locked up at night if it continues to be a loafing place for young men and young women, stated Postal Inspector M. B. Johnson, Monday.

If this was done, it would be a great inconvenience to the patrons of the local office.

Loafers are responsible for defacing government posters on the bulletin board. This is an infraction of federal laws and the offenders are subject to fines in federal courts.

Mayor C. R. Burrow appealed to Mr. Johnson to give the local officers a chance to oversee the postoffice lobby and to stop the destruction of government property before the government is forced to lock the lobby.

Local officers are instructed to arrest those who violate the government's policy.

No Information Received on TB Test For Randall

With the rapid change in policy of CWA during the past week, nothing definite has been received regarding the TB county-wide test which was authorized last week.

Dr. J. G. Porter, representing the Federal Government, writes County Agent W. H. Upchurch that while it is believed that this work will be started, yet he has no definite word from Washington. CWA activities in the department of Agriculture was reduced approximately one-half by orders from Washington on Thursday.

Dr. Porter will return to Canyon next Monday if he has definite information by that time to start the work.

Rotary Club Hears Vocational Talk by Jesse D. Barker

The Membership Committee, J. H. Cox, Jr., chairman, introduced Jesse D. Barker at the luncheon Tuesday for a classification talk. Mr. Barker discussed the law profession.

"Law is the rules and regulations by which society compells and restrains its members," was the definition given by Mr. Barker of his profession. Its two natural branches are criminal and civil law. The speaker stated that he chose civil law as being the most interesting to practice. Civil law is interesting because of its contact with people and its opportunity to study people.

There are now 165,000 lawyers in the United States, and the number increases 10,000 every year. The profession is not overcrowded with good material. However, it is a profession that is slow in which to start.

Various experiences were related by the speaker as illustrations of law practice, and some injustices of law.

The duty of citizens as jurors and of witnesses in court was stressed by the speaker. Mr. Barker insisted that citizens should not condemn the officers for non-enforcement of the law when they refused to accept jury service.

The criminal courts were called a joke because of the suspended sentences and pardons being granted.

In the final analysis, laywers are the trustees of the nation owing to the necessity of the profession in handling the large amount of business which must of necessity pass through their hands.

The death of Rotarian Albert, King of Belgium, was observed in singing the Rotary Anthem.

Visitors present were Ben Anderson, R. E. Wertz, Leroy White, Harvey Allen, J. D. Thompson, Jr., all of Amarillo; Bob Fling, Rev. J. R. Hicks, W. L. Pearson and Cagle Teague of Canyon.

MRS. BELLAH TO RETURN

Mrs. R. A. Bellah hopes to leave Temple the first of the week to return to her home in Canyon. Her son, Alfred Bellah, returned Friday night from Temple where he spent last week. While not improving as the family would like to see, Mrs. Bellah is very anxious to return home, and the attending physicians have advised the change. R A. Bellah has been with his wife for several weeks and will accompany her home.

HIGHWAY PARKS PLANNED NORTH AND SOUTH CITY

T-Anchor College Farm to Have Development by Highway

PRESERVE HISTORY

Van London Gets Beautification Program Started

A plan to beautify the highway north and south of Canyon has been prepared by District Engineer W. J. Van London, and was shown here Monday.

President J. A. Hill and the Board of Regents have given authority to the highway department to beautify the lake on the College farm north of town, and to make a park. Mr. Van London has developed a plan of development which calls for drives, trees and other improvements for a park which will be artistic in nature, and will be very attractive to tourists as well as people in this section of the state.

The dam and creek will be riprapped, and the driveways bordered with stone. Hundreds of trees will be planted along the creek, the damsite and the drives.

Plans call for taking in the old T-Anchor log house. This is the oldest house in this section, having been erected in 1878 and served as headquarters for the T-Anchor ranch when this ranch comprised the larger part of four counties that have since been carved out of the territory.

Mr. Van London states that the historic feature of this park will be featured in the development and the advertising which will draw tourists to witness the birthplace of civilization of this section.

Plans for developing the Tierra Blanca south of Canyon are along the same lines, but not so extensive. The dump grounds on the west side of the highway will be cleaned up, and trees set out. The channel of the creek will be changed in order to avoid future washouts on the highway.

Trees are now being planted in other parts of the county along the highway in following the highway development and beautification plan recently started in Texas.

Cactus will be planted on the hill north of Canyon where the caliche has been removed.

Mr. Van London states that the highway department has an extensive plan of improvement and beautification for the highways but is handicapped at the present time by the uncertainty of the men and money which will be available.

University Man Will Be Here on March 10th

Dr. Goldwin Goldsmith, head of the department of Architecture of the University of Texas will be a speaker in Canyon on March 10, and townspeople as well as students will be given an opportunity to hear him.

Dr. Goldsmith is being sent to Canyon because it is a college town. He comes through the courtesy of the American Institute of Architects.

"The Fine Arts in Everyday Life" will be the subject of his address. It will be popular in nature and thoroughly understandable to the ordinary citizen as well as valuable to the student of art.

Names For Park Formations Will Be Chosen Friday

The naming committee of the Palo Duro State Park will start its work Friday morning at 8 o'clock in the canyons. Mrs. J. A. Hill is chairman of the committee.

Arrangements for horses to carry the committee into the Palo Duro are being made by Major E. A. Kingsley and J. B. Elliston.

This will be the first of several all day trips which will be made into the Park by the committee.

SISTER-IN-LAW DIES

Mrs. S. B. McClure received word Saturday that her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Dillingham, died at her home at Orange, California, Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock.

PANHANDLE MEMBER 1933 PRESS ASSOCIATION

Army planes took charge of the U. S. air mail Sunday night, after the cancellation of all contracts with plane companies. It is suggested that not all of the contract scandal has been given to the public. The President is waiting developments before giving his real reasons for cancelling the existing contracts. While most people are prone to regret seeing the government take on another activity which private companies are now handling very successfully, it may be that the President has in mind a wide expansion of the air forces and seeks a useful training field for the air forces, rather than just the mere maneuvering which takes place on the daily training field. Hoover's postmaster general burned documents before retiring from office which would tell the whole story of the contracts. This fact alone warrants the drastic action of the President, and makes it possible for the government to extract information regarding the contracts which might otherwise not be procured.

It is proposed to increase the state's share of conducting legal betting on horse races in order to pay the interest on the relief bonds. But no, this would be unjust to the gamblers, was the word spread through legislative halls. The average Texas citizen does not realize that in the first year of legalized gambling on horse racing in Texas that $7,000,000 was gambled away. Of course the larger part of this money went to the professional gambler who followed the ponies and knew the horse to pick. The old boys from the country furnished the money to keep the gamblers going. But it would be entirely unjust for the state to take a big slice of this unearned money with which to feed the hungry of Texas, say the gamblers' friends.

Colonel Lindbergh has always avoided publicity, and as a result has become somewhat unpopular with the press members who have covered his trail. His telegram to the President last week, released before it reached Washington, shows either that the Colonel has no sense of propriety in dealing with such public matters, or else he was capitalizing the magic of his name in a publicity stunt for the purpose of drawing favorable public opinion to his air company at the expense of the President's popularity with the people. The people generally hope that the first is true, rather than believe that Lindbergh sought publicity to cover up the contracts which have met with executive disapproval.

Pitty the legislator who is between two fires for the moment. The people are crying out for lower taxes; the Texas Centennial is coming on in 1936 and there is demand for a large appropriation to carry on this celebration. The people authorized the legislature to make this expenditure, but still the spirit of economy which was the boast of the present legislature runs into hard sledding as it attempted to reconcile more appropriations. Besides this is election year, fraught with dangers for those who are in office.

The government is clearly showing that kidnappers can be apprehended. Gang after gang is being closed in upon. The bold arch criminal is no longer afraid of state officers, many of whom lack in training, but they fear the federal officers. Furthermore, the criminal has learned that state courts may be easily side-stepped as the people are not completely sold on law enforcement. But trial in a federal court is entirely different, and a thing which even the hardened criminal seeks to avoid.

Political observers predict war between Japan and Russia early this spring. Troubles in Austria leads others to believe that Germany is preparing for war. All Europe is moving in the general direction of bloodshed. The United States will be lucky to stay out of another world wide brawl, and will be fortunate in not being "touched" for the expense of such a fray. But it is hoped that even the best observers will be wrong again.

About the easiest thing to steal and get away with these days is the lowly cigarette. Railroads are having a tough time shipping cigarettes, and it almost takes special guards to insure delivery. Warehouses are often victims of theft. Cigarettes are easily disposed of at so many places in every community. If the tax stamps have not been annexed, it gives a fine opportunity for the cigarette bootlegger to get in his work.

Those who have lived in the Panhandle for many years are want to say that the blow Saturday night was the worst they have ever seen. Perhaps the memory of unpleasant events is short. At any rate, it was not a very pleasant experience at the very best.

Uncle Sam is fast gathering the world's gold supply. France is having a tough time as she sees her gold supply rapidly dwindling.

Depression, French Temperament Lie Behind Modern Paris Riots

Gendarmes, above left, are shown trying to keep a Paris mob under control. At right, a rioter is shown being hustled off to a police station. Below, from left to right, are: Gaston Doumergue, Maxine Weygand and the Duc de Guise.

HEAVY taxes, a national reluctance to cut down the cost of living, indignation over graft in high circles, and the Gallic temperament — these are some of the prime factors behind the Paris riots of 1934, modern editions of the bloody revolts of the 18th and 19th centuries.

The most important reason, perhaps, is the French temperament. The typical Frenchman does not brood silently over his troubles. He must vent his emotions in some way, violently if necessary.

Recently a French government official said, in effect: "If thousands of Frenchmen were jobless, they would not sit around in parks and wait for better times, like the British do. There would be trouble and plenty of it!"

• • •

THE depression helped a lot.

France tried to ignore it. There was, until recently, little of the harsh economy practiced in other nations. But hard times had to make themselves felt, and did.

Tripled gasoline tax, boosting the price to 62 cents a gallon, brought on a taxi strike which froze Paris transportation. Two hundred thousand miners were disgruntled over their two days' work a week.

Farmers, hit by high prices of tariff-protected goods, resented free-imported wheat. Civil servants rebelled against pay cuts. With gold fleeing abroad, the populace lost confidence and began hoarding.

All this the French, in the way of common people the world over, blamed on their government. France seethed with discontent, but little occurred in the way of violence until after the Bayonne affair.

• • •

SERGE ALEXANDRE STAVISKY, a swindler with a long and unsavory record, somehow became connected with the Bayonne municipal pawnshop. When he shot himself recently, after being trapped by police for defrauding the French public of nearly $40,000,000, the people suspected that high government officials were involved in the swindle. This was the last straw.

Mobs, singing the Marseillaise, began parading the boulevards. Fascists, Royalists, and Socialists, seeing their chance, joined the demonstration. Police and troops tried to clear the Place de la Concorde, and rioting resulted.

• • •

TO save his Republic, Gaston Doumergue, 71, France's beloved "grand old man," was called to organize a new cabinet. Settling cabinet crises was no novelty to Doumergue: he straightened out 15 of them in his six-year regime as president, from 1925 to 1931.

And backstage, waiting for their cues, were Maxime Weygand and the Duc de Guise. Weygand, favorite and "spiritual son" of wartime Marshal Foch, and head of the French army, was the "mailed fist" to be called on as a last resort to prevent revolution.

And the Duc de Guise, foremost pretender to the throne, awaited summons and coronation should his monarchists seize the nation's throttle.

MAROON AND WHITE WILL MEET TECH FEBRUARY 26-27

Crucical Series Of Year; Matadors Are Long-Time Enemies

(By Gerald Brown)

Following a week of idleness, the West Texas Buffaloes take to the road for a tilt with the Matadors of Texas Tech in Lubbock on Monday and Tuesday nights, February 26 and 27.

For the Buffaloes this trip represents the crucial series of the year. To date the Buffs of this year have had only a passing successful season, winning six and losing seven games. Texas Tech has been the traditional rival of West Texas since the establishment of Tech at Lubbock in 1926. During that period there have been many close and bitterly-contested games between the two schools. In basketball Canyon has had by far the best of the deal, winning 32 and losing only 2 games to Tech over a period of eight years.

This year Captain Stroud and his teammates became the third team in history to lose a game to Tech when they dropped the second game of a two game series 29 to 22, Feb. 2, after winning the night before 23 to 22. A tradition that still remains unbroken is the one that a Tech team has never won a series from a Canyon team. This year Tech was accorded by critics the best chance ever of breaking that tradition. With a team of veterans, while West Texas has only one regular back, and hurt by the absence of some good men who were supposed to be back, Tech came to Canyon with the avowed intention of breaking that tradition. Coach Del Morgan's Matadors went away very dissatisfied with being the third team to win a game from West Texas, and swore to vanquish the Buffaloes when the Buffs returned the visit of Tech.

The Buffs are fully aware of what they are up against, and since the Tech team won one game from the strong Odgen Boosters they are doubly aware of the difficulty taking games from the Matadors in their own gym.

Co-captains Alvin Crews and Polk Robinson, along with Gilmore, Priddy and Weaver, have already displayed their wares in Canyon. Since then the Matadors have won two games from the Simmons Cowboys and split a series with the Ogden Boosters.

Coach York has been preparing his team for this meet all along, and the Buffaloes will be prepared to make their supreme bid for success.

Captain Stroud who was out of one of the Las Vagas games because of a severe cold, after breaking through to score 24 points in the previous game against Flagstaff, Arizona, will once more be leading his teammates. John Walker has just hit his stride, and should be going strong. McMinn, Richards, and Phillips have all been improving their floor work, along with their accuracy in hitting the basket, and although Tech is favored to win both games, to do so they must clearly demonstrate their superiority to a good ball club, namely, the West Texas Buffaloes of 1934.

If You Get Up Nights
USE BUCHU AND GIN
Make This 25c Test
It is as valuable to the bladder as castor oil to the bowels. Drives out impurities and excess acids which cause the irritation resulting in getting up nights, burning, frequent desire, leg pains and backache. On account of the alcohol use juniper oil from which gin is made. Ask for Bukets, the bladder laxative also containing buchu leaves, etc. After four days, if not pleased your druggist will return your 25c. You are bound to sleep better after this cleansing. City Pharmacy says Bukets is a best seller.

Plans Grow For Silver Jubilee

Committees Appointed To Arrange Mammoth Celebration

Dr. J. A. Hill and his faculty are already hard at work on plans for the Silver Jubilee which will be celebrated October 19-20. Professor L. F. Sheffy heads the central committee.

Some idea of the magnitude of the celebration projected may be had from the committees which are given here.

Dr. Hill and Mr. Sheffy are especially anxious to have ideas of ex-students from 1910 to 1934 regarding the Jubilee. Letters will be welcomed by either of these or by any other member of the faculty.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

One Thing Is Sure: Mrs. Whitney's First Minstrel Won't Be End Man in Kentucky Derby

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE two-year-olds of 1933 are Kentucky Derby candidates for this year—and more than likely, when the thoroughbreds are paraded to the post at Churchill Downs, May 5, a likely looking colt named First Minstrel will be the Derby favorite.

Already this horse of Mrs. Payne Whitney's has been made winter book favorite — although it's rather strange, as First Minstrel won only $6945 in 1933 campaigns.

Favorites have had the nasty habit of running any place but first in Derbies the last few years. Last year Ladysman was ballyhooed, and he was beaten to the wire by both Broker's Tip and Head Play. But keepers of the winter books are acting on the idea that they can't be wrong all the time, and there's First Minstrel at the top.

• • •

THE second choice horse, odd as it may seem, won more than 10 times as much money as First Minstrel. He is Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Singing Wood, the colt that took the Belmont Futurity and $82,950 along with it last season. Both he and First Minstrel are sired by the same horse, Royal Minstrel, and both babies can go.

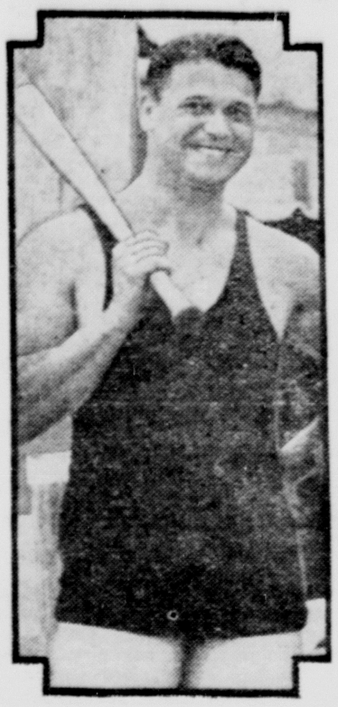
Third and fourth in the rating are Chicstraw and High Quest.

A lot of competition this year is expected to come from the fillies. Only once before in the long history of the Derby has a lady horse copped the classic, and that was when Regret romped home ahead of the field.

This year, however, two great fillies, Tatanne and Mata Hari, carry threats in all four feet.

Tatanne ran up a record of six straight wins at the New Orleans winter meet, and Mata Hari was the leading two-year-old gal on the tracks in 1933.

They are apt to give the gentlemen a run for the dough—which, incidentally, has been sliced to a paltry $30,000 this year, due to the depression, which has been over since March 4, 1933.



Like the postman who took a hike on his day off, Jimmy Foxx, left, Connie Mack's star club wielder, has been practicing with a bat during his outing at Miami Beach, Fla. Tatanne, which won six straight races at the New Orleans winter meet and may prove a strong contender in the Kentucky Derby, is shown below.

THREE surprises are in store for American League baseball fans in 1934. The Detroit Tigers are going to finish among the first three teams, the Red Sox will be in the first division, and Lou Gehrig is going to be home run king.

The first two surprises may not be as astonishing as the last—for everyone has been figuring Jimmy Foxx to be the likely successor to Babe Ruth.

But two factors enter into the build-up of Lou and the downfall of Jimmy. One is the inability of Babe Ruth to hold up his end of the batting twin act at Yankeetown and the resulting increased responsibility thrust upon Gehrig; the other, the salary slice Connie Mack has handed Foxx.

Gehrig, with Ruth an unknown quantity, is going to be in there trying for all his worth to supply the lost Ruthian punch, Foxx, on the other hand, peeved at Mack's treatment of him after he led the league in home runs for two years, may lose his enthusiasm for knocking homers for his boss.

'Twould pay Connie to give Jimmy more dough instead of lopping off 25 per cent from his pay check.

BUFFS SPLIT TWO-GAME SERIES WITH N. M. COWBOYS

Captain Russell Stroud Is Out During First Game

Ending their home games for the season, the West Texas Teachers split a two game series with the New Mexico Normal University Cowboys here Friday and Saturday by the scores of 36-32 and 25-33.

The Herd played the first game without the help of Captain Russell Stroud, who was too ill to play. They played inspired ball at times, one of which was the spurt in the last three minutes of play, when the Cowboys held a one-point lead. Big John Walker tied the score with a free shot, then gave the Buffs a one-point lead with another. Britt widened the gap with another gratis throw, and Boedeker slipped under the goal to make the final score of the game. The score at the half was 20-14, in favor of the Maroon and White.

Captain Stroud played in the second game, but was markedly slowed up because of his illness. Though the Buffs did not hit their stride, they played nip and tuck ball with the Cowpunchers during the first half, and left at the end of that period leading by a 15-12 margin.

West, diminutive substitute forward from the Sunshine State, took advantage of the Bisons' lagardness early in the last period to run up a 21-15 score before the Herd woke up. Then Smith, lanky Normal center, helped his teammate out and together they put the score at 28-16 at the ten minute mark.

The Buffaloes tried to come out of it, but still couldn't seem to get in gear. Coach York sent in most of his substitutes, who, since they were as fast, though small, as the New Mexico men, kept the Cowboys from scoring but five points in the remainder of the game. However, they could not score, and the gun left them on the small end of a 33-25 score.

In the first game, Richards tied with Dunbar for the high score honors with 9 points. Walker was next with 8. In the second game, West ran up 15 points to lead the field, and Richards followed next with 9 points, all scored in the first half.

One characteristic of the Buffaloes' previous games has been the general scoring of the whole squad, that is, although usually one or two lead the scoring, the rest of the boys "chip in" with several points. In the last game, Richards scored 9 and Stroud 7, no one else on the team made more than two.

Easter Jaunt to Sound Jaunty Keynote

THREE-QUARTERS SWAGGER COATS, TOPPING SILK AND PRINTED DRESSES, WILL HOLD THEIR POPULARITY

Popular for spring is the cardigan-jacket suit in black and white wool, shown at left. Note the wide belt which buttons to match the bottom of the shirt. The model at right is a white, tight-mesh tulle dress, completed by a three-quarters coat in the new shade, apple green. Such open work effects will feature many spring dresses.

BY HARRIET

ADVANCE tips on the spring fashion market are interesting to nearly everyone right now. In just a few weeks, smart women throughout the country will be shopping around for ensembles to wear in that Easter parade.

Unquestionably the three-quarters swagger coat still will be good for the spring. Its youthful and jaunty air is almost irresistible to women. At the Paris spring openings, one house showed printed dresses topped by swagger coats in monotone silks.

Then there is a vogue for silk dresses and contrasting three-quarters coats in light-weight woolens.

The windswept silhouette is so new right now that it's sure to be popular throughout spring and summer.

Skirts will be a trifle longer, even in sports things. And pleats in the back of daytime skirts are good.

• • •

SHOULDERS will lose all their emphasis. Raglan sleeves are smart on suit and swagger coats. Sleeves on dresses are plain at the shoulder line and fullness, if any, is centered directly above or just below the elbow.

Colors are more vivid. Bright blues, reds, greens, orange for brunets and, of course, black and navy are popular shades.

If you're getting a suit, don't overlook the new tweeds. Norfolk jacket and plain, box-jacket suits come in luscious tweed mixtures.

Blouses are all-important. Instead of wearing plain brown or black shirts as you did last spring, you'll go in for bright plaid taffetas, stiff organdy, chintz and figured linen blouses.

• • •

A CARDIGAN-JACKET suit is the type of thing which will be popular for spring. This one is in black and white wool, with a wide belt with buttons to match the bottom of the skirt.

The blouse is a smart little tuck-in model of white silk, with a collar which ends in long ties that knot at the point of the V-neckline.

Openwork effects will be popular for spring dresses. The model which features that idea is a white, tight mesh tulle dress, completed by a three-quarters coat in the new shade, apple green.

Lost and Found!

ON BOARD THE BYRD FLAGSHIP, JACOB RUPPERT, ANTARCTICA, Jan. 29 (via Mackay Radio)—Well, here I am folks. Back again on the good old Jake. Filthy dirty and no chance to get clean. Dog tired, every joint I possess aching madly. But gosh! What muscles I am developing!

I've been told by the club secretary, by radio, that I've been lost. I didn't know it. But I've had the amazing experience of spending three nights — or rather the tiny parts of night I could spare for sleep, with the sun shining all night—in a tent with a snow floor.

John O'Brien
Second Mate of the Ruppert

And only the exhaustion of 20 hours a day of the most terrific physical labor could make me sleep on that cracking snow and ice floor. I'll never see a crack in a concrete sidewalk again without wanting to run away from it. Down here you'll see a tiny crack you could hardly put a knife-blade into. A few minutes later it is three feet wide and you're sprinting away from it as fast as you can go. In half an hour a piece of territory as big as ten football fields, with a horrible grinding sound, has slid into the ocean, which is 1600 feet deep around these parts and darn cold. Nice stuff to sleep on, eh?

My job won't sound impressive to you. Checking gas and oil. Prosaic enough, I imagine, doing that in some warehouse or freight station. But on the edge of a slippery, crumbling cliff or snow and ice which is likely to disappear any minute and take you with it, well, prosaic is not quite the word, believe me.

All day yesterday and practically all night we worked with furious energy on the ice to take advantage of good weather. The ship had been able, with the aid of our wonderful motor boat cruiser, to snuggle up to the treacherous and unsteady ice cliffs after drifting about the bay for three days to save her from being sunk in a smother of falling ice cakes as big as houses. On the end of the big boom the landing net was spilling radio equipment and great red drums of gasoline and oil out onto the ice. And George Noville, C. P. Lindley, of Warren, R. I., several other fellows and myself were working frantically loading them onto the dog sledges and tractor sledges for the mad dash away from the edge of the ice to Pressure Camp, four miles back, where the ice hasn't started to crack up yet.

Admiral Byrd, on a tour of inspection, had located several cracks behind us but we were too busy to worry. He worried, though, as he always does about his men when there is danger around. He considers the breaking up of the bay ice a terribly serious problem. But we toiled on undisturbed.

Pretty soon, from the bridge, we heard the Admiral yell through a megaphone to Lindley, "Hey, Lindley, you're too close to the edge to work without a life line. Put one on immediately." This was Lindley's lucky day. The rest of us had life lines on, groups of us tied together on long ropes. Lindley did as the Admiral told him and attached himself to Noville and me. Darn good thing he did!

We were loading up another sledge for another wild run to Pressure Camp when suddenly we heard the four ominous blasts on that deep whistle on the Ruppert. It scared the wits out of us. This was the signal to cast loose ship and dash aboard. In other words, it meant both we and the ship were in deadly danger and the ship was going away from there immediately. Before we could move a muscle the ice started breaking up all around us and underneath us, with that awful grinding sound. The sharp eyes of Admiral Byrd and Commodore Gjertsen had spotted its beginning from the ship. Tremendous cracks appeared like magic on all sides of us. One opened up directly under Lindley and he went head over heels into it, out of sight and almost took George and me with him. With all our strength we hauled him out, like a huge fish, and in the excitement Noville gave him a good kick, for no good reason at all.

On the piece of ice that was falling next to the ship were several packing boxes of precious supplies and ten big drums of priceless gasoline. These simply had to be rescued. The big boom swung out quickly over the side and almost buried us with the landing net. Working like mad we rolled the drums and boxes hurriedly into the net and it was jerked into the air and onto the broad steel deck of the Ruppert. Thank the Lord that's not cracking up! On all sides men were scurrying about on the ice—some to dig out the buried steel hatch covers to which our mooring lines are attached and casting them off, others rushing to the makeshift gang plank to the ship, made of telephone poles and more hatch covers. Up that gangplank we scampered madly and the men on board got busy hauling it in. Will you believe it, five minutes after that whistle went off, the ship was moving out to open water, just as the whole area where we had been working, hundreds of yards of it, tumbled into the ocean. Oh boy, some excitement! But we're getting used to these sudden moves. Nothing happens slowly down here. Wonder if I shall ever be able to accustom myself to a peaceful life at home again. I certainly will for the first six months because I'll sleep that long the minute I reach there.

You should see us. Our nice white working suits are filthy black. So are we and the beards we are growing are comical to see. We haven't had a real bath since we left New Zealand and the Ruppert, being an oil burner, has deposited on all of us a nice layer of sticky, oily soot which no amount of cold cream seems to budge. If I ever get into a nice white tiled bathroom, with plenty of hot water and towels and scrubbing brushes, I'll kiss its walls and eat the soap.

The club tells me that all the cards and working maps which members get without cost have been sent to date but that some of them have been returned because names and addresses were not clearly enough written by applicants. Write them about this if your card and map haven't arrived and they'll send them. If you haven't applied yet for membership, which costs nothing, do so now, with your friends. Simply send us a self-addressed stamped envelope and your membership card will be sent you immediately, with the map being mailed the following day. Address your envelope to Arthur Abele, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Tri-State Music Festival To Bring Many Musicians

The Annual Tri-State Music Festival which will be held in Canyon, April 5, 6, and 7 will bring hundreds of young musicians to the campus for the contests which will be under the general direction of Miss Pauline Brigham, the contest director.

In addition to the tremendous interest in the contests, there will be three programs that will be greatly enjoyed by the public generally. These are the three evening programs which have been arranged by Mr. Wallace Clark, the president of the Tri-State organization.

On April 5, Rollin Pease, of the University of Arizona, Tuscon, will be presented in a voice program. Mr. Pease has sung in both Canyon and Amairillo and has always met with very cordial reception. April 6, the College Madrigal Club of thirty-two voices, under the direction of Mr. Clark, will give its annual spring concert. The final program of the three days will be that of the Tri-State Orchestra, composed of players from the Panhandle, eastern New Mexico, and western Oklahoma. There will be about 80 pieces in the orchestra which will be directed by Mr. Clark.

Of course, we never know what other people are thinking, and for the sake of our vanity perhaps it is just as well.

When a man has no answer to the other fellow's argument, he is apt to call it propaganda.

If people were forced to follow their own advice what a sudden silence would prevail!

THE EAGLE'S TALE

VOLUME NO. 8 | CANYON, TEXAS FEBRUARY 22, 1934. | NUMBER 23

Well, well, well and well, did them Hereford Whitefaces git a drubbin', I'm askin' you? I say they did, both of 'em, that is the boys and girls both. Why that Captain Speck Williams wuz really bustin' them Hereford fellers. Didja see Captin tackle that Seedy, he was that long, lanky maverick that played forrard fer Hereford. Now he shore put the skids under that boy, a regular flyin' tackle I figgered. More power to you Captin, I think ruff games are of greater intrust than these polite games that you sometimes see, and you mite hev to play them boys agin at the turneymint.

Me and old Strawberry argyed all the way back to Gun Powder Canyon as to how it come that Friony renigged on you Eagles. I finally won the argymint by convinzing ole Strawberry thet Friony got kold fete and jist couldn't take it.

When I rode to town Toosday morning to git reddy fer the game I wuzza figgerin on seein' you Eagles and Eagletz uphold ole C. H. S. but I wuz shore disapinted.

The only konsilashun I had wuz that I got to see the Eagletz warm up free of charge. You know sum uv them gals can really hit that basket. I also signed up fer the Groom game. It wuz a whing ding uv a game. I'm shore sorry about the girls not gittin' to play Groom.

I guess I better quit tryin' tu intertane you folks and go throw the leather on ole Strawberry and haze a bunch uv nags over to Mad Woman Hollow er the boss'l show me the gate fer loafin.

Before I close tho, I'd like to give you boys a little advice; you want to train hard an' win that districk tornymint.

Did ja know that them W. T. Calves beat our Eagles. Well, that's what the Happy High School Brayer said, but it taint so unless it was back in them Dark Ages.

Canyon E-Student Does Good Work at Texas A. & M.

Mr. I. B. Carruth, Superintendent of the Canyon High School, received a letter from the Texas A. & M. College saying that Louis Upchurch, a graduate of C. H. S. in 1931, is doing some outstanding work there as a freshman.

During his first term at A. & M., Louis made two A's and three B's. This is very unusual for a freshman. Out of the twenty-six boys that are in the same troop with Louis, only five are making passing grades. During the past year an average of twenty percent of all freshmen that enter A. & M. fail their first term. Out of all the students that enter A. & M. only twenty-five per cent pass all of their grades.

Two New Students Enroll in C. H. S.

Two new boys have enrolled in Canyon High School; they are Edwin Meyer and T. S. Stevenson.

Edwin Meyer enrolled here from the Palo Duro school. He is a sophomore; he plays baseball and seems to be a good prospect for the sophomore baseball team.

T. S. Stevenson is a junior and enrolled here from W. T. High. Canyon High Schools extends a cordial welcome to these new students and hopes they will enjoy being a part of the school system.

Margaret Nicholas went to Amarillo Saturday.

Miss Jewell Foster spent the week end in Dumas and Amarillo.

MARYE ELLA LOWE WINS CUP; DEBATERS REACH SEMI-FINALS IN AMARILLO SPEECH CONTEST

Among the six debaters and the one extempore speaker, one cup was won and one debate team got to the semi-finals.

The question for debate this year is, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the essential feature of radio regulation and control of Great Britain." Extemporaneous speech is speaking without notes prepared ahead of time. Each contestant is allowed to draw five times. They then choose their topics from the five slips of paper they have drawn. The contestants are given thirty minutes for preparation of their speeches. Then they speak from the notes they have prepared in the thirty minutes.

Friday, about 1:00 p. m., Dan Gerald, Jack Oldham and Robert Orton took their cars to Amarillo; thereby furnishing ways of transportation for the speakers.

The debaters drew for their contestants and hour of debating. At three o'clock the Canyon teams debated as follows:

Robert Orton and Jack Oldham defeated the Lubbock team.

Irene Thompson and Bobby Jo Cheyne debated Lubbock. The decision was in Lubbock's favor.

Loura Ferne Brian and Armor Lee Greenfield debated Borger. Canyon won.

Again at 4:30, the three teams debated as follows:

Jack Oldham and Robert Orton were victorious in the debate with Floydada.

As the first debate did not count, Irene and Bobby Jo, contested Floydada. Canyon won.

Loura Fern and Armor Lee lost to Amarillo, thus losing out of the tournament.

The speakers attended a banquet at 6:30 Friday evening. After the banquet everyone was invited to a party and dance.

The C. H. S. debaters debated again at 8:30 Saturday morning. Robert and Jack defeated Lubbock B team.

Irene and Bobby Jo lost to Friona.

Jack and Robert were defeated in a 10:00 o'clock debate with Amarillo.

This boys' team was the only Canyon team that got to the semi-finals.

Alton Brasuel, a debater, has suffered an attack of tonsilitis and could not debate in the tournament Dan Gerald, his colleague, attended the meet.

The girls' extemporaneous speech contest was held at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning. Marye Ella Lowe won the cup against seven other girls. This was the only cup won by Canyon contestants.

Parts of "Macbeth" To Be Given In Assembly

The variety chapel program to be presented this afternoon, will open with the assembly singing a few songs selected by Virginia Burgan, the student song leader.

Following these selections will be the dramatization of Act 1, Scene 1, and Act 5, scene 1, of "Macbeth," presented by the 11 o'clock section of the senior English class.

The cast will consist of Doctor, J. M. Allred; Lady Macbeth, Robbie Foster; Gentlewoman, Dora Mae Plaster; Three witches, Nell Slaton, Athalee Overton, and Marie Price.

Lela Bell Johnson will tell the story of "Macbeth" so as to enlighten the students who have not yet studied this play.

The program will close with some selections on string instruments by Marian Tucker and J. M. Allred.

Eaglettes to Play Pampa Fems Friday

The Pampa High School sextet will be the guests of the Canyon Eaglettes tomorrow night. Pampa has the reputation of having a fast feminine squad and from all indications the game will be tight from start to finish.

The game will be held in the Eagle gymnasium at 7:30. The admission will be 10 cents for students and 15 cents for adults, or 24 payments on activity tickets.

Valentine Day Program Given In Assembly

Though it was the day after Feb. 14, Thursday's assembly was a Valentine program. The first numbers were two songs, "Moonlight on the River Colorado," and "In the Valley of the Moon," sung by Bobby Jo Cheyne, Laura Ferne Brian, Dora Mae Plaster, and Margaret Croson, with Robbie Foster at the piano. All the students joined in singing "Home on the Range," "Juanita," and "The Spanish Cavalier." Winnie Dee Hicks told of the origin of our celebration of Feb. 14, and Hampton Lisle told some interesting methods of observing the day. Sewell Cox had charge of special music, and he had engaged Carl Neighbors and John McNeill, of the training school, who played their guitars, Carl playing Spanish style and John, Hawaiian.

Grade Pupils Enjoy Valentine Day

Miss Annis Smith and her fourth grade pupils were entertained with a Valentine party Wednesday afternoon from three to four o'clock at the home of Bradford Black. A Valentine game kept the children amused for some time. Each person was given a string that hung from a box, and when he pulled the string out, a Valentine was on the end of it. The house was decorated with red and white hearts. Refreshments of heart-shaped cookies and punch were served.

Each home room had a Valentine box Wednesday afternoon.

Muriel McGonguil entertained 7b with a skating party at the rink Wednesday afternoon from 4:30 until 6:00 o'clock. Custard cups were served.

ARMOR LEE GREENFIELD GIVEN SLUMBER PARTY

A slumber party was given Tuesday night at the home of "Bill" Price in honor of Armor Lee Greenfield whose birthday was February 13.

Delightful refreshments were served at one o'clock to Helen Hardman, Virginia Burgan, Trixie Jackson, Athalee Overton, Velma Crawford, Marie Price, Gailen Porter, Myrtis Wright, the hostess and the honoree.

Mary Ella Lowe and Mary Dowlen spent the week end in Amarillo after the debate tournament was over.

Thelma Bryant and Tennie Dora Brooks went to Amarillo Saturday.

Nell Slaton went to Amarillo Saturday night.

Dan Gerald and Lorenzo Wirt went to Vega Saturday night.

Supervisor's Column

Physical Education should be taught during the formative years, giving the child knowledge essential to keeping the body in perfect condition through healthy habits. Statistics show that many physical defects of adult life could have been prevented had the proper corrective exercise been given in childhood. Health records should be kept from year to year in order that the teacher as well as the child would have some knowledge of the progress being made.

Play is one of the most important agencies for the development of health, because it involves those fundamental movements of the body which are natural to the human race and are therefore performed easily and joyfully. Pleasing activities have a buoyant and stimulating effect upon the nervous system and causes a beneficial reaction on the whole body. Directed play, such as physical education in the intermediate grades would offer, would be conducive to firm, balanced, and supple muscles. An element of dramatic play should be introduced to give correct posture, carriage, and grace through rhythm in dance.

Health should be the primary value of physical education in the intermediate grades, but there is a great value placed on the by-products. Childhood is not only a time of physical growth, but also a time of mental and social growth. A study of mental and physical growth shows that children retarded in health are backward mentally. Associations with people make a versatile mind, and the lack of them produces a narrow mind. In games one child learns from another, and true personality is revealed. The child must be able to make a choice of several actions in his games that are made even more complex by restrictions made by the rules of the game, thereby revealing the quick thinkers and interpreters. Through competitive play one notes the development of such traits and alertness, quick thinking and control of the bodily reactions. The competitive spirit is so strong in youth that no other type of play will stimulate interest to the same degree. Competition plays an important part in adult life, and in childhood the essentials of sportsmanship such as honesty, courtesy, generosity, friendliness, and a sense of fair play can be and should be instilled so firmly in the child's character that later in life he would cling to these ideals of childhood.

A child must comply with the rules of the game, and he must make himself agreeable if he is popular with his playmates, and every child craves popularity in the games. Through directed play the child's character is broadened by the necessity of courage, self-reliance, aggressiveness, enthusiasm, and determination. Team play develops the co-operative spirit that is needed in practically every walk of life. By the supervision of play the instructor has a chance to have a personal touch with the child that is lost in the school room and this affords an opportunity to develop a well-rounded physical, intellectual, social, and moral child.

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

When Houdini, was playing an Illinois town, he called a volunteer onto the stage. The boy who went up was so stirred by his contact with the great magician that he secured books on slight-of-hand; he practiced, and he found a hobby that he has pursued with great success and pleasure into middle life. The real magic in that boy's brief moment on the stage was not Houdini's trick; it was the magic of participation.

An intelligent, but listless youth was permitted to watch a surgeon perform an operation on his father's eye. A modern miracle. A spark dropped into that boy's bundle of fagots; his life suddenly had heat and direction. Address him today: Faculty, Rusk Medical College, Chicago.

These and many other stirring examples of how boys have been motivated to do worth while things by a little interest on the part of some adult, are given in an article in the February issue of the Rotarian. The title of the article is, "Can You Give Five Minutes to a Boy?"

Education is not carried on in school houses alone. Sometimes the greatest lessons are taught and the greatest inspirations are given outside of the classroom by some adult. They are not always intentional by any means. Many others could be given that never are. Adults, as a rule, do not realize the power to mould some life that usually lies at their command. Every man is being watched and admired by some boy. A kind word, a little interest, a few minutes of time in which one's business is explained to some boy might determine a career.

Is it worth the effort? Think it over.

Freshman Essay on George Washington

He was born in a log cabin as most great men are. The cabin was in Kentucky, so he was bordn in a log cabin in Kentucky. When he found that he could not get out of his crib, he cried, "Give me Liberty, or give me a lolly pop." His ancestors dated clear back to when Miles Standish had a date with Calamity Jane. His father gave him an axe with which he cut down the old pine tree, when he was very young. When asked who committed the crime, he replied, "Father dear, I cannot tell a lie, I cut down the old pine tree. to make a cabin for that sweetheart of mine."

While yet a very young man he got a job surveying his uncle, Douglas Fairfax's land. He surveyed and surveyed until he surveyed out Mt. Vernon, a little hill on which he built a bungalow, "with roses 'round the door."

One day while he was out riding in his Rolled Rice car, commonly know as a hoss'n buggy, he met a beautiful widow, named Martha, whose mother called her May for short. She told him to "Come up and see me sometime, anytime." When Martha found out who he was, she casually remarked, "Hey, Hey! How'm I doin' honey?"

(Concluded next week)

EAGLES BOWED TO VEGA CAGERS IN SLOW GAME

Saturday night the Canyon Eagles bowed to the Vega cagers by a small margin in a very slow and uninteresting basketball game played in Vega's small gymnasium.

Clounch, flashy Eagle guard, scored three of the five points for the Eagles, while Vincent, Vega guard, scored four of Vega's ten points.

PLASTER, SHACKELFORD, FOSTER RECEIVE HIGH AWARDS IN HOME ECONOMICS CONTEST

Climaxing two weeks work on a special occasion dress, a style show and contest was held last Friday afternoon in the home economics room to see whose dress was best qualified to uphold the following standards: general appearance, fit, simplicity, suitability to person, workmanship, sewing suitable to types of materials, machine stitching, finishing of seams, and special features. The girls that won the first three places were:

First place, Dora Mae Plaster.

Second place, Christine Shackelford.

Third place, Robbie Foster.

Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, instructor, said, "I am quite enthusiastic over the special occasion dresses which the home economics girls have just completed. The types of dresses range from informal afternoon dresses to formal dinner dresses, according to the particular type of dress that each individual girl needed in her wardrobe. The garments were constructed with the least expenditure of time and money possible, the average cost being $4.37 for each dress."

The girl who makes the best average in grades will be eligible to go to a state contest at Austin in April.

The judges were home economics majors from W. T. S. T. C.

Condron Speaks at P. T. A. Meeting Thursday Night

The regular P. T. A. meeting was held in the auditorium Thursday night, Feb. 15, at 7:30. The high school orchestra, composed of twelve students under the direction of Mrs. J. D. Barker, with Gladys McBride at the piano, played three enjoyable numbers.

Prof. S. H. Condron, of West Texas State Teachers College, the speaker of the evening, chose as his topic, "The World Our Children will live In." He spoke of the P. T. A. as an organization trying to bring the home and school more closely together.

According to Mr. Condron, the conditions of today were brought about by lack of vision. Parents tended to their own affairs, and let the children do the best they could with theirs.

"How can adults attack the problems of today with an education that is twenty-five years old?" asked Mr. Condron, and ventured an answer that the organization of night schools under the CWA has brought about the finest opportunity for men and women to become better acquainted with the problems of today.

Few people think of the past, many of the present, and a few the future. More should look forward into the future because we are living in an age of change; consequently, a period of progress, because no progress can be made in a period that is not changing. Mr. Condron raises the question, "How well are we prepared to meet the present problems and crises?' and according to him, we as Americans, have not as yet faced our own problems.

He says that down to the present time America has been pigeoned by having too much credit and borrowing too much money with which it was vainly believed her problems would be solved. He asks, "Can the American government and the American people progress that way?" and continued:

"An educator of the East says that the reason early peoples moved west was so they could leave their old problems behind." By the time they lived in the west as long as they had in the east, their old problems were confronting them again. Now there is no more land to move to, and we must settle down to the solving of the problems facing us.

Another educator said that the child should be brought up in two ways: first, give him a definite theory of everything and second, teach him to expect changes just as he expects life.

America has excelled the world in inventions but in the grasping of problems as a whole, she has been a complete failure. How far has America gone to improve human relations compared with her perfection of machinery? The CWA work is a revolution for America. Seventy-five per cent of the unemployed were unemployed because of lack of vocational training and vocational guidance.

Machinery has reached the perfection age of co-operation but the social world has not reached the point of co-operation. America is the most intelligent nation in everything besides the human race.

When schools were first begun political activities were emphasized most; later economic conditions were important. Now we have reached the stage where character is essential. In 1633 reading was considered a fad; in 1733 arithmetic and geography were late frills in the school, in 1833 history was scorned. Many thought that art, music, public speaking, and physical education were fads and frills, but as a matter of fact they are doing more to keep young people from committing crime than are any other studies.

This modern age has brought about four kinds of disease: physical, mental, nervous, and moral. Through the development of the physical side of life, the three other abnormalties will disappear.

According to Mr. Condron, the P. T. A. is an organization to discuss problems and improve the moral side of living and only thru co-operation can these problems be solved.

After Prof. Condron's speech, the group was invited to the home economics dining room where tea was served.

Lee Christine Cousins, who has been out of school for the last six weeks on account of illness, returned to school Monday.

Books Inspected Last Thursday

Thursday morning was a busy one for most of the students in Canyon High School, because all books were to be inspected by 9 o'clock. At the end of every hall and in the locker rooms there were students with scissors and paper, busy tearing off old book covers and supplying new ones. Everyone carried all of his books to the first class, where the books were inspected by each teacher, respectively. It was too bad for the student that forgot, because he was sent to the office and made to cover each book carefully. When he returned, his books were then inspected.

Student Council Sets Stunt Nite For April 16th

Stunt night was the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Student Council, Monday, Feb. 19. April 6 was the date set for the occasion, and various clubs have already indicated their desire for stunts. They are the two home economics clubs, Tawamana club, press club and Girl Scouts.

Plans were made to have class meetings Thursday afternoon to elect a king and queen from each class, who will be entered as candidates in the general election of king and queen of the high school. Each vote cast will cost a penny, and the king and queen having the most votes will be crowned king and queen of the high school as the climaxing feature of Stunt night.

An admission charge of 10 and 15 cents was suggested and the novelty orchestra was suggested as music to entertain them between the stunts.

Eagles To Play In Tournament

The Canyon High School Eagles will open the annual district basketball tournament at Amarillo Friday morning, February 23, at 9:00 o'clock in a game against the Farwell High School Steers.

The Eagles did not enter the meet last year, but they are looking forward to this meet, and are working hard in order to give a good account of themselves in the meet. This is one of the best chances the Eagles have had to take the meet since 1928, as only two teams in the meet have defeated the Eagles. They are Happy and Amarillo.

PLANS FOR INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL BEGUN

Plans are being made for the starting of intramural basketball next week.

The coaches will appoint the coaches for the teams from the squad members.

The contest will be put on the double elimination basis, each team that has been defeated in two games will be eliminated.

All classes from the seventh grade to the seniors will be represented.

READ! YOU PROFESSIONAL GUM CHEWERS

If some people could study with as much diligence as they can chew gum, they would make A's all of the time. Some people have the knack of getting by with gum chewing, but others are always caught after the first chew or so. Some of the professional gum chewers say it is all in knowing how to chew with such grace as to be unnoticed. Others say it is all in knowing how to stop chewing when the teacher looks in your direction. Woe be unto him who is caught in the act of chewing some gum. Nothing is more embarrassing than to be asked to go to the waste basket and throw away your gum. Spring fever and chewing gum seem to coordinate. Now, that this uncurable malady is invading the student body, let us throw away our chewing gum and start spending our time studying, and concentrating on some phase of school work. In throwing away chewing gum, have more respect for public property than to paste it on the bottom of a desk; use the waste basket, or, better still, don't bring gum to school.

STUDENTS WANT MUSIC

Armor Lee Greenfield, an all-round, well-balanced student of Canyon High School, says: "I think this school should have more music. The radio should be placed in the home economics room or the mechanical drawing room."

But she is only one of the many students who want more music worked into their courses. There are only band, orchestra and glee club to teach the school children music and its appreciation. One might take private lessons, but in this depression, there is not much money for such.

The seniors of '32 left with this school a radio. It has been used for the high school only one time and in the grades the rest of the time. We, the students of the high school, are not objecting to the use of it for the grade children, but we believe it only fair to let us have it more of the time. Much of the time it is used by neither school. The attentiveness of the students in high school was remarkable during the one use of the radio this year. This was the broadcast of the Walter Damrosch Music Appreciation Hour.

Music in its various moods, can express anything, thus, helping to cheer the sick, sorrowful, poor, and rich. Music usually makes people forget their troubles. While, the poor and rich alike may have their trials, when they hear the strains of some lovely song, these things pass from their minds. This shows what music plays in the life of the human race.

Eagles Win Last Home Game From Groom Cagers

The Canyon High School Eagles defeated the Groom cagers in the last home game of the season Friday night, in the Eagle gymnasium.

The Eagles started the scoring and managed to keep a few points ahead throughout the game though Groom followed close, the score being 19-12 at the sound of the final whistle. McDonald, Groom forward, led the scoring with 8 points to his credit, followed closely by Slack, Eagle forward, and Elliston, Eagle center, each with 6 points.

As Civil War Flamed Throughout Austria

Famed Vienna and other Austrian cities became armed camps when civil war, in which hundreds were killed and wounded, broke out throughout the country, climaxing years of bitter hatred between Fascist and Socialist elements in Austria. Troops, armed with rifles and machine guns, are shown above standing guard in front of the Vienna city hall. Maj. Emil Fey, vice chancellor and head of the Heimwehr, Austria's Fascist army, is shown at left below. In center is Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, and, at right, Prince Starhemberg, Fascist leader.

Juanita Campbell Wins Oratory Meet

Writes and Delivers Own Seven-Minute Address

At the District Pastor-Laymen's conference of the Baptist church held in Plainview last week, Miss Juanita Campbell, senior speech student at the West Texas State Teachers College, won first place in the oratorical contest which was held in connection with the meeting.

Miss Campbell represented the Canyon Division of the conference, including Happy, Tulia, Dimmitt, Hereford, and Canyon. She wrote her own oration, a seven minute talk on the subject, "Ye Are Debtors," and delivered it without assistance. She was accompanied on the trip by Ernestine Walker.

This contest, known as the Contest on Stewardship, is limited, in the senior and intermediate divisions, to orations. The junior group is permitted to use declamations. The Canyon division was not represented in the latter contest.

Miss Campbell will go in the near future to Fort worth where she will compete in the State contest. The winner in this will be awarded a week's paid vacation to North Carolina next summer. Aside from her work in the speech department, Miss Campbell does much advanced dramatic work in Amarillo and surrounding towns.

Noted Educators To Address Meet

First Panhandle - Plains Conference Meets In March

A notable group of speakers will be on W. T.'s campus to greet hundreds of teachers, superintendents, school board members and laymen on March 23-24 when the first Panhandle-Plains Educational Conference will be held.

Dr. Doak Campbell, of George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville; Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma; J. O. Loftin, president of the Texas State Teachers Association; J. O. Guleke, member of the State Board of Education; L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Education; C. C. Small, State Senator from this district; Dr. J. A. Hill and Deputy State Superintendent E. E. Chamness will be heard on the programs.

Supt. W. H. Younger of Tulia and Miss Ola Boyles of Amarillo will preside over the Administrators and Class Room Teachers Sections at their meetings.

Organizations from several Panhandle high schools will furnish entertainment numbers on the two-day program.

No Track Team This Year Says Coach Baggett

Coach Baggett announces that there will be no regular track season this year for W. T. However, all boys interested in track and are not going to work out for spring football should get some kind of equipment and work out every chance they get so as to be in condition for the intramural meets that have been planned. He says that there will be a possibility of one meet at the end of the season, but there are no meets scheduled as yet.

Lack of competition and the fact that W. T. does not participate in the conference meets this year makes it impossible to have an extensive track season; however, there will be a spring football program with track as a sideline two or three days a week.

Mr. Baggett also wishes to announce that next year's track season will be carried out in a big way, and that it is not being dropped by any means, only postponed until conditions are more suitable. He is expecting much material for next year's track team to come from transfers to this college and this year's freshmen. So all boys interested in participating in any kind of track this year are urged to start working out in the next few days; the coach is sorry that he cannot devote more time to the practice.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25c at drug stores.

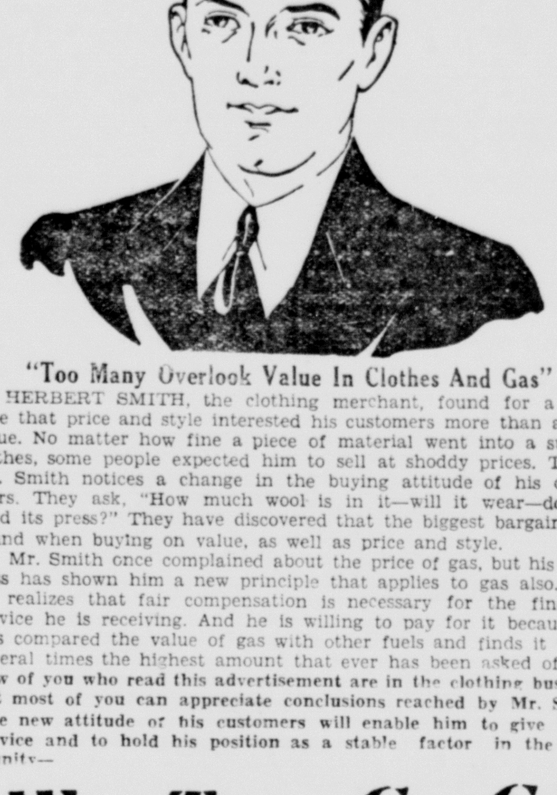
HERBERT SMITH

(The Clothing Merchant)

SAYS—



"Too Many Overlook Value In Clothes And Gas"

HERBERT SMITH, the clothing merchant, found for a long time that price and style interested his customers more than actual value. No matter how fine a piece of material went into a suit of clothes, some people expected him to sell at shoddy prices. Today, Mr. Smith notices a change in the buying attitude of his customers. They ask, "How much wool is in it—will it wear—does it hold its press?" They have discovered that the biggest bargains are found when buying on value, as well as price and style.

Mr. Smith once complained about the price of gas, but his business has shown him a new principle that applies to gas also. Now he realizes that fair compensation is necessary for the fine gas service he is receiving. And he is willing to pay for it because he has compared the value of gas with other fuels and finds it worth several times the highest amount that ever has been asked of him. Few of you who read this advertisement are in the clothing business, but most of you can appreciate conclusions reached by Mr. Smith. The new attitude of his customers will enable him to give better service and to hold his position as a stable factor in the community—

C.C.C. CAMP NEWS

By Nugent L. Lowrey
Company 1828

The dance for this Thursday evening at the Camp Recreation Hall promises to be a big success. The accepted invitations indicate that a large crowd will participate, and arrangements have been made for an enjoyable affair. Colonel Coppock is enthusiastic to the extent that he has promised another dance for the evening of St. Patrick's day if this first dance proves to be the success anticipated.

The meeting place for invited guests wishing transportation to the Veterans' Camp Thursday evening in Canyon will be the American Legion Home; and in Amarillo, the County Library, the hour to be promptly six-thirty o'clock. All camp transportation facilities will be used.

A survey taken by all four Companies this week give evidence that a large majority of the present enrollees wish to remain at this camp for another period of six months, the new enlistment to begin April 1st. A report covering this survey is to be at Fort Sill, the General Headquarters for this Corps Area, by February 28th, and it is presumed that men who are stationed here now will be required to sign a new enlistment pledge about March 15th.

Camp bulletin boards display an encouraging notice, namely, that men who are now serving in CCC activity at Palo Duro Canyon are eligible for a few State positions as foremen beginning April 1st, and such men are to be considered in accordance with their abilities during the present work program.

Captain Chas. D. Apple, who has been Company overseer of Company 1821 for the past two months, has been relieved by Captain H. P. Gibson, who was formerly with Company 1821, but who has been with Company 1829 for the past two months.

A. R. Sansom, who has been Supply Sergeant of Company 1829 ever since July, has withdrawn from CCC service to accept an industrial position. Marvin Carmichael is the new Supply Sergeant.

In Company 1828, two men have derived benefit from the Sick Benefit Fund. This fund was begun, and is contributed to in a small way by each of the members of the company each month, for the purpose of having funds available to help a fellow enrollee have transportation home in case of extreme sickness or death. George B. French and Leslie E. Boyd were sent home recently on such emergency.

Clyde B. Holland of Company 1829, who has many friends in Canyon, received a message on Sunday notifying him of the death of his brother. He left immediate-for home to attend the funeral.

Work at this locality continues in good order, and it is gratifying that favorable weather has attended almost continuously since last July.

Four holidays appear on this week's camp calendar. Thursday is a scheduled holiday, Friday is an earned off-day, due to the fact that the veterans worked on last Saturday so as to include the day along with Thursday. Saturday and Sunday off this week.

HAS OPERATION

Miss Katie Calloway was operated on for appendicitis at an Amarillo sanitarium Friday. The last report on her condition was that she was resting very well.

Prof. T. M. Clark left Monday for Portland, Texas, where he will live at his old home. He expects to do some teaching during the balance of the year. He drove through, stopping to visit several relatives enroute.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Bishop Seaman will visit Canyon on the evening of Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22, and will conduct a service and deliver an address on "George Washington, the Christian," at eight o'clock. General Washington was an honored member of the Episcopal Church, and an officer in it for many years, and is held in reverent memory by all Episcopalians.

Rev. Warwick Aiken will continue his sermons on "Prophecy" next Sunday night at eight o'clock, having for his subject, "Why Stand Gazing?" based upon Acts I:II, and he will discuss the prophecies dealing with the second coming of Our Lord. These sermons are proving very interesting and instructive.

All Canyon friends are cordially invited to attend both of these services.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

YOUNG MAN, WHEN I WAS YOUR AGE I WAS A FARMER, LUMBERJACK, FUR TRAPPER AND GOLD MINER. WHY, I EVEN PLAYED AROUND IN POLITICS.
BOY, WHAT A BREAK FOR ME! IF YOU HADN'T WORKED SO HARD WHEN YOU WERE YOUNG I'D HAVE TO GO OUT AND GET A JOB.
